SOCCER PREVIEW

The University of Maryland soccer Terps are looking upward after a 4-4-2 season in 1972, the worst year in Maryland soccer history.

"We're looking for more thrust on the offense," said coach Doyle Royal, "and I think we've found it, judging from the pre-season results."

Maryland has several solid players for the forward line. George Taratsides is an All-American candidate for the Terps. Last year, Taratsides was selected as an All-American goalie but does the same caliber of job on the attack.

Captain Pat Cunningham, a junior, was the team's leading scorer last year and will man another one of the forward slots. George Amy, a junior, is described by Royal as "one of the finest wings we've ever had" and Gonzalo Soto is another complete player for the Maryland forward wall.

Freddy Winckelmann, just a sophomore, led the team in assists last year. He could play at either wing or a midfield slot and do a good job in both.

Another midfielder is Ecrument Berilgen. Royal describes the sophomore as "a key defensive man, one of the players to watch for the coming year." Farzin Azapour is very improved at a midfield spot and could also see action at a forward position.

The fullbacks are a potent group. Pete Hamilton, an All-ACC selection is the best. Hamilton, a three-year letterman, has a solid foot and can strike quickly.

Tom Armenti, another three-year letterman and former All-ACC player, and improved Omer Pence, will probably start in the Terps' 4-2-4 attack. Talented support also comes from forwards Gary Ciany, an excellent surprise last year, and Dave Chesler. Veterans Mike Sidlak and Frantz Brea are probable starters in the midfield positions.

Two goalies split the net-tending work. Senior Pete Steese and sophomore Tony Griffiths have both showed rapid improvement.

Overall the Terps are going to have to work quickly because of a schedule that is one of the strongest in the nation. Half the teams on the 10-game slate received national recognition last year (Howard, Clemson, Navy, Penn State and Baltimore). In the Atlantic Coast Conference race, Maryland must overcome a top-rated Clemson squad.

COACH ROYAL

DOYLE ROYAL is entering his 28th season as head soccer coach at the University of Maryland. He started soccer on a varsity level in 1946 after returning from the war. Since that time his teams have compiled a record of 208 wins, 54 defeats, and 17 ties. In addition he has coached Maryland's tennis team for 28 years to a 257-97-4 record.

He was graduated from Roosevelt High School in Washington, D.C. and came to College Park as an undergraduate in 1939 with aid to play tennis. That same year he was on the Junior Davis Cup team. At Roosevelt he won letters in four sports and captained the basketball and tennis teams. He won three tennis letters and one soccer monogram at Maryland.

He began playing soccer while in the fourth grade and by age 15 was playing in the Washington Unlimited Soccer League. He was the youngest ever to play in that league. Royal continued to play amateur unlimited ball until 1941 when he played inside right on the Maryland team which went undefeated. He received his diploma in 1942 and went off to war.

During the war he took part in the invasion of France, earned a Silver Star for Valor, a Purple Heart, and three campaign ribbons. He retired from the Army Reserve following the summer of 1968 as a Lt. Colonel.

Royal married the former Loraine Bishop of Asheville, N. C. They have one girl, Lisa, 17, and one boy, Derry, 14.
